SMITH CLOSES; PLEDGES HIS BEST

the table in front of the microphone and seldom glanced upward to the small group of friends and newspaper correspondents in the room. Once, he paused for an instant, and drank a glass of water.

Nearing the end of his speech, the governor seemed to raise his voice a trifle when he said he would "cherish for the rest of my life" the memory of the "heartily, enthusiastic, affectionate welcome" he had received from the thousands who turned out to wave and cheer on a campaign tour reaching from the Atlantic to the Rockies.

Has Made No Trade.

He declared his "last spoken word before the American people" was the morning to make their decision was that he never had traded a promise for a vote, and that no one had been authorized to make any promises for him. In fact, he added, none has been made.

"I can enter upon the duties of the greatest office in the world," he continued, "without commitment to anybody except the American people." When he concluded, although they had been requested not to do so, the small group of friends applauded and the nominee smiled and bowed in return.

While Mr. Hoover was speaking, the governor several times conversed with Henry Morgenthau, ambassador to Turkey during the Wilson administration, who was sitting on his right. Among others in the room were William F. Kenna and James J. Rorimer, close personal friends of the nominee, while among those in the audience were Joseph J. Proskauer, a New York supreme court judge, who accompanied the candidate on a large part of his campaign travels.

Urges All To Vote.

Governor Smith said: "Under our form of government the citizens of this country must assume an individual obligation to do their full share to keep democratic government the success that it has been. And their share on election day is to be sure to vote."

"The declaration of the equality of man is never better exemplified than it is on election day, when the humblest man in the community is the equal of the president of the United States."

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement: "Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger." (adv.)

States as he stands before the ballot box. A man or woman who is not sufficiently interested in the welfare of the country to take the trouble to cast a ballot cannot be said to be a very good citizen. It is almost as though they say in effect that they do not care what happens. The whole theory of democratic representative government is predicated on the belief that the citizens of the country are sufficiently interested in their government to determine for themselves who is to run it.

"Likewise, it is the duty of every American citizen, man or woman, to vote according to the dictates of conscience, solely upon the basis of what he or she believes to be for the best interest of the country itself and not upon the basis of any passion or any prejudice. Any man or woman or any group casting a ballot for any other reason except the welfare of the country is doing what they possibly can to negate the whole theory of democratic government."

Frankly Discusses Issues.
"For six or seven weeks, as the democratic candidate for the presidency of the United States, I have been traveling throughout this country. I have spoken to the American people on every important issue that is pressing the country for solution. Within the limit of my ability I have endeavored to state my position and the position of my party on the issues presented in this campaign clearly and concisely."

"I ought not to be surrounded by thousands of people in a great hall and I am going to take this opportunity to talk intimately to my radio audience alone, as though I were sitting with you in your own home and personally discussing with you the decision that you are to make tomorrow. If I were physically present with you I know you would ask me to give you the facts to convince you which of the two candidates by training and by experience is the better leader of the American people to lead the American people to a solution of the problems that will confront the next administration. A frank answer to your question makes it necessary for me to speak of my own record."

"I am no stranger, as you all know, to public office. Prior to this year I have been a candidate for election to public office 20 times, and have been elected 19 times. I have served as governor of New York for a longer period than any man in the history of the state since the days of DeWitt Clinton, 100 years ago."

"Politically, the state of New York is a strong republican state. Three men have been elected on the democratic ticket since 1892, a period of 36 years, although we elect our governors every second year. I am the only democrat in 40 years who has been honored by the people of my state with more than one term as governor."

Won In G. O. P. Landslide.
"In 1924 while the republican candidate for the presidency carried the state of New York by upwards of 700,000 plurality, I was elected governor by 150,000. "At no time during my governorship was the legislature in the history of the state in the control of the democratic party. I vetoed more legislative proposals than any two governors in the history of the state. Not a single one of these vetoes was overridden by the legislature."

"In this intimate talk you are entitled to know what actuated me in the appointments I have made to my own cabinet. I appointed to public office more men and women requiring confirmation by the senate than any two governors in our history. While during my administrations the senate was democratic for six years and in all of that period not a single appointment was withdrawn by me or rejected by the senate."

Tells of Progress.
"For the first time in the history of our state I set up a cabinet. Let us take a look at that cabinet for a minute. Probably the most important appointment made by the governor is the superintendent of public works. He is charged by law with the operation of the Erie canal. In his department are found the bureaus of highways, public buildings, water control and architecture. "On highways alone in the year 1928 the superintendent of public works expended $45,000,000. In the bureau of architecture and under the supervision of the engineering bureau there are in course of completion contracts for public buildings amounting $90,000,000."

"No time in the history of this department has there been so much public money expended as during the last six years. All the skill, the ingenuity and the political sagacity which the republican party can bring to bear have been directed to an effort to find something in the expenditure of all this money and in the development of all these projects that might be used against me politically. What they found was that the superintendent of public works is an independent of unquestioned integrity and sterling integrity; and that this great department, expending these enormous sums annually, is operating like a thoroughly well organized business institution."

"Let us take a look into the department of mental hygiene. In the past the insane and the feeble-minded were housed in the state hospital for the care of the mentally deficient, there is a population of approximately 50,000 people who have to be fed, clothed and cared for by the state. The annual expenditures for this purpose run into more than $20,000,000. This cabinet position I promoted from the superintendent of the state hospitals one of the most competent physicians in the state service, with twenty-five years of experience; and not a member of my political party."

Appointments Nonpolitical.
"To head the department of correction, expending more than $5,000,000 a year for the care of the prisoners of the people committed to our penal institutions, I selected a doctor formerly superintendent of one of our institutions for the criminally insane, and who had twenty years' experience in the service of the state, and who likewise was not a member of my political party."

"To the department of conservation I reappointed the republican incumbent of the office because of his ability and his capacity to do the job. "To the department of state I appointed a man who in a spirit of civic duty worked for years for the state without salary, and was primarily responsible for building up the state's great system of parks and parkways."

"To the head of the department of health, I promoted a physician with years' experience in the health service of the state. He belongs to no political party. "To the department of labor and to the industrial board I appointed men and women of unquestioned ability, without reference to party allegiance."

Selected Expert.
"As my own secretary I selected a man who for thirty years was connected with the executive department in Albany and not of my own political faith. "To the department of taxation and finance I appointed a New York business man and two tax experts whose judgment and opinion on the subject of taxation have been sought to advise the national congress where they have frequently appeared upon request before the committee on both sides of the house."

"Two important positions are held by men not appointed by me, but I have been pleased to welcome them into my cabinet. The commissioner of education is selected by the regents of the university of the state of New York who in turn are elected by the legislature. The commissioner of agriculture and markets is selected by the council of farms and markets, which in turn is likewise selected by the legislature. Both these men, members of my political party, have times out of number certified that I have cooperated with them to the very last degree in building up the efficiency of their departments."

"It has been said time and time again by prominent citizens of my own state, members of all political parties, that the government of the state of New York is in the best condition that it has ever been in all of its history."

Cites Many Reforms.
"During my term as governor, constructive reforms in the government of the state of New York and bond issues for the replacement of its plant and structures and for the protection of human life have been accomplished notwithstanding the open opposition of the republican legislative leadership. You would naturally ask how this was brought about, because you would want to know how I would deal with similar situations in the national government. They were accomplished by direct appeal to the people. I did not confine my public speaking in the state of New York to election periods. I took advantage of this opportunity also to extend my thanks to the thousands of people who, in the course of the last six weeks, have either written or telegraphed me words of encouragement and support. I am about to utter my last spoken word before the American people start in the morning to make their decision, and it is this: At no time during my long public career in elective office did I ever trade a promise for a vote. I have made no promises to any man or to any group of men. Nobody was authorized to make any promises for me and, in fact, none has been made. I can enter upon the duties of the greatest office in the world without commitment to anybody except the American people."

Supervised by People.
"Last election day I favored seven amendments to the constitution and appointed one. The seven were adopted by the people of the state and the one overwhelmingly defeated. Men, women and even the children in our public schools knew exactly what was in every proposed amendment to the constitution, why it was proposed and what was sought to be done about it. That was my idea of executive leadership."

"For years and years the people of my state knew nothing about the government except what they got from government statistics, which at best are involved and not understandable to the ordinary man and woman. "I awakened a great interest in the Mothers—Try Mild Children's Muterole

Families of Famous Democrats Demonstrate

Loyalty to the Party

New York, November 5.—(Special.)—Senator Pat Harrison, member of the advisory committee of the democratic national committee for the south, issued the following statement:

"The democracy of the south today is on trial. Those who have wavered in their allegiance to it in this campaign should draw inspiration from the unity that has characterized the leaders of the party throughout the nation. Never before in any presidential campaign has such universal support been accorded a democratic presidential candidate."

"Mrs. T. J. Preston, formerly Mrs. Grover Cleveland, has given public announcement of her support. Her daughter has worked in national headquarters. Young Richard Cleveland, son of Grover Cleveland, has been on the stump and every member of the family is wholeheartedly supporting the democratic ticket."

"Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and everyone of her family are enthusiastically for democratic success. Mrs. Sayre, daughter of Woodrow Wilson, has taken the stump."

"Mrs. Tom Marshall and Mrs. Champ Clark have openly espoused democracy's cause. Genevieve Clark Thompson and Bennett Clark, daughter and son of the grand old Missourian, have been on the stump throughout the campaign."

"Every member of the family of W. J. Bryan has remained loyal to the democratic party. Every living member of President Wilson's cabinet is supporting the ticket."

"Hon. John W. Davis and James M. Cox have been making speeches in every part of the country that a glorious victory might be attained for the democratic party. In these circumstances the loyal democracy of the south can be counted upon to remain true and steadfast to the party."

state of New York by my treatment of the government itself. I divided it into two branches: The business side and the human side, as well as a business side. "Nearly every constructive reform in government under our American system must be accomplished by law. That is the only way in which a position must possess the traits and qualities of leadership that make it possible for him to get along with people. "I never stand for a dictator any more than they are today satisfied and contented with a policy of silence. What they want is constructive leadership, a leadership based on the recognition of the will of the majority, and the ability to make the governmental problems of different groups in our community the concern of all."

Backed by Women.
"During my governorship it is a matter of record that I have had my strongest and most vigorous support from my own women. They have a deep interest in the human side of government. They fought side by side with me without regard to party in the election of 1924. They have been safeguarding the lives, health and welfare of men, women and children in industry; to secure social legislation; to improve the care of afflicted veterans; of tubercular patients, of the mentally deficient, and of the physically handicapped; to improve the care of orphaned children."

"With the national campaign about to close I desire to express the regret that I was unable to visit every state in the union. Time, as you can readily understand, would not permit it. This regret is intensified by the memory of the hearty, enthusiastic, affectionate welcome I received from millions of my fellow American citizens in every state I visited. It made a deep impression also upon the members of my family and the friends who accompanied me. Particularly am I indebted to the women of the country for their cordial and affectionate greeting to Mrs. Smith and my daughters."

Gives Thanks for Aid.
"To all who had a hand in the campaign, including the party workers, the members of the city, county, state and national democratic committees, independent citizens and republicans, I express tonight at the close of this campaign my heartfelt gratitude. I thank also the newspaper publishers, writers and editors for their kind and generous treatment of me. I appreciate likewise the courteous cooperation of the radio officials, motion picture and other photographic agencies, and the police forces of the various cities I visited. The enormous outpouring of people taxed them at times to their utmost."

"I take advantage of this opportunity also to extend my thanks to the thousands of people who, in the course of the last six weeks, have either written or telegraphed me words of encouragement and support. I am about to utter my last spoken word before the American people start in the morning to make their decision, and it is this: At no time during my long public career in elective office did I ever trade a promise for a vote. I can enter upon the duties of the greatest office in the world without commitment to anybody except the American people."

Democracy Aroused.
"In reports that have come to me as chairman of the state executive committee from state committeemen in all sections of Georgia, and from county chairmen everywhere, it is gratifying and reassuring to learn that the democracy of the state has been aroused to the perils of the situation, and that from the mountains to the sea sentiment within the past two weeks has crystallized in favor of Governor Smith and Senator Robinson."

"In expressing the confident belief that the democratic plurality will be not less than 50,000, I have been influenced by the nature of the reports from every county and by detailed statements representing careful surveys in almost every militia district of the state. "If, as now seems probable, the weather is fair on Tuesday I look for an unusually heavy vote, and in this event the 50,000 minimum plurality will be largely increased, and may run as high as 100,000."

ernment and the policies which he wishes pursued during the next four years.

"It is estimated that over 42,000,000 men and women have registered in preparation for casting their ballots. This registration exceeds by twelve or fifteen million any previous registration in the history of our country. This is to a great extent due to our women, who are alive to the fact that the issues in national elections more seriously than ever before affect every home in our country. Women have achieved their rights at the ballot; they have now accepted their responsibilities."

Great Poll in History.
"In my public statements I have earnestly urged that there rested upon government many responsibilities which affect the moral and spiritual welfare of our people. The participation of women in elections has produced a keener realization of the importance of these questions and has contributed to higher national ideals. Moreover, it is through them that our national ideals are ingrained in our children."

"Never before in the history of the world have forty millions of people in this commonwealth prepared to press their convictions and determination as to the character of government of their country and the future policies which they desired to see adopted and carried out. It is the greatest spectacle and the greatest inspiration in self government that has ever been witnessed in the whole history of the world. "It should hearten the confidence of every believer in government by the people."

Sectionalism Dead.
"Our two great political parties have laid before you their principles and policies. And I am a believer in party government. It is only through party organization that we can give coherent expression to their views on great issues which affect the welfare and future of the republic. Therefore, it is only through party organization that we may fix the responsibility for the assured execution of these promises. Our national campaigns are a period of renewed consideration of the fundamentals which make for progress and prosperity, that make for moral and spiritual advancement. We are a nation of progressives. We differ as to what is the road to progress."

"I differ widely with many of the principles and views advocated by our opponents and the proposals which they have put forward. But it is not my purpose to review these questions. We are, or should be, a nation of individuals, and should make independent determination of our conclusions. Democracy cannot survive if the ballot is to be cast upon somebody's order or direction. Democracy in such state would become the destroyer of liberty and not its guarantee."

It is Contrary to our national ideals that any party should represent any section of our country and this election more than any that has gone before gives hope for the breaking down of sectional lines. There ought no longer to be any north, south, east or west in our national thought. Our ideals as Americans have been molded and welded under leadership of men and women from every section of our country. The greatest progress can come in advancement of our institutions, our ideas and our ideals by the common contribution of every section."

Welcomes New Voters.
"We shall have with us this year millions of first voters. I wish to express welcome to them. We welcome them to the common task of building a better and better social order and the welding of idealism of youth into political life."

"This election is of more momentous order than for many years because we have entered into a new era of economic and moral action, not only in our own country, but in the world at large. Our national task is to meet our many new problems, and in meeting them to courageously preserve our rugged individualism together with the principles of ordered liberty and freedom, equality of opportunity with that idealism to which our nation has been consecrated and which have brought us to the leadership of the world."

"The American voting booth is the place where every ballot should be lodged upon the conviction of each individual as to the principles and issues of the party which will best serve the future of America. It is only by this consecrated independence of judgment that we may truly give expression to the will of a great people. Therefore, I urge upon each citizen to vote, and vote early, and to vote seriously and earnestly as conscience and mind direct."

Good-night, my friends.

Have you all of your
own teeth?

Unless you take preventive measures now, the day is coming when you will know, to your sorrow, that the true meaning of the phrase "artificial denture" is the extravagant price of self-neglect—false teeth. Here's the reason and the way to safeguard health against the coming of this day.

Teeth are only as healthy as the gums. And gums, undernourished and under-exercised as they are, soon surrender to dread diseases that ravage health and often destroy teeth. To prevent this, avail yourself of the best care that modern dentistry offers. Place yourself in the hands of your dentist at least twice a year. And brush your gums when you brush your teeth, every morning and night. But for this purpose—use Forhan's for the Gums... the dentifrice specifically designed to firm gums and keep them sound and healthy, thus protecting them from the attack of disease. Use Forhan's regularly. You'll be delighted with the way it makes your gums look and feel. In addition, you'll notice that it effectively and safely cleans teeth white and protects them from acids, which cause decay. Get a tube of Forhan's—today!

Have you all of your
own teeth?

Unless you take preventive measures now, the day is coming when you will know, to your sorrow, that the true meaning of the phrase "artificial denture" is the extravagant price of self-neglect—false teeth. Here's the reason and the way to safeguard health against the coming of this day.

Teeth are only as healthy as the gums. And gums, undernourished and under-exercised as they are, soon surrender to dread diseases that ravage health and often destroy teeth. To prevent this, avail yourself of the best care that modern dentistry offers. Place yourself in the hands of your dentist at least twice a year. And brush your gums when you brush your teeth, every morning and night. But for this purpose—use Forhan's for the Gums... the dentifrice specifically designed to firm gums and keep them sound and healthy, thus protecting them from the attack of disease. Use Forhan's regularly. You'll be delighted with the way it makes your gums look and feel. In addition, you'll notice that it effectively and safely cleans teeth white and protects them from acids, which cause decay. Get a tube of Forhan's—today!

WOMEN FORM DIVISION FOR CHEST CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Huger, Mrs. Holland and Mrs. Lumpkin Are Named Co-Chairmen.

Creation of a working organization for the women's division of the Community chest got under way Monday with Mrs. William Huger, Mrs. Frank Holland and Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, co-chairmen in conference for selection of colonels to represent all sections of the city.

Headquarters of the Women's division will be on the fourth floor of the Electric and Gas building and two telephones will be available. The numbers are Walnut 5708 and Walnut 5709.

A meeting of all presidents of charitable organizations which are members of the Community chest has been called for 11 o'clock Thursday morning on the fourth floor of the Electric and Gas building, when the co-chairmen of the Women's division will obtain information regarding women and girls who have agreed to help in the drive for funds for the chest.

Confidence Expressed.
Mrs. Lumpkin expressed confidence that women of Atlanta will swing into the work with enthusiasm because, as she expressed it, "it touches every phase of life in which women are interested."

The efforts of the Women's division will be directed at procuring from Atlanta's feminine population direct aid for the Community chest which set a high mark for service in October, according to the monthly report of Frank Miller, executive director of the chest.

16,177 Families Helped
Aid was rendered 16,177 families by various agencies of the Community chest in the thirty days just passed, Mr. Miller's report stated. Conference to determine the disposition of exceptionally difficult cases were held every day and the applicants for aid have been handled in the manner best fitted for their needs.

Problems presented in the past month included, the report declared: Care and transportation of transients; health and housing of families and children; investigation of financial status of applicants; development of plans for their upbuilding; placement of orphans; procuring of employment and outfitting of children for school.

16 Miles of Dietz Desks
SOLD IN THE SOUTHEAST
By Ivan Allen-Marshall Co.

By Actual Calculation

If all the "DIETZ" DESKS that have been sold by IVAN ALLEN-MARSHALL CO were lined up end on end, they would reach from Five Points in Atlanta, to Stone Mountain, Georgia, 16 miles away.

For Thirty-Two Years

"DIETZ" DESKS have been the most popular Desks among the business men in the South.

The early type was the "roll tops" with a multitude of pigeon holes and compartments; large, massive standing desks for bookkeeping, with drawers and shelves galore. Then came the low "Banker's Roll"—then the "flat tops," and now the sanitary "flat tops" for every purpose; for the President, Clerk, Stenographer, and all.

"DIETZ" has met every changing style and condition, and, without sacrificing quality, has met the requirements of business.

Local Hotel Lobbies Seethe With Politics on Election Eve

BY L. A. FANEL.
If you are a democrat, republican, anti-Smithite, socialist, communist or hunk you could have gotten yourself gobs and gobs of argument had you sauntered into any one of Atlanta's leading hotels Monday and expressed verbally your presidential preference, if any.

It was a throw-back to the old days of split ranks in a democratic state campaign. The lobbies were filled with men, and a few women, to whom the alleged prosperity has been real and they, the jobs, to whom it has been a myth. All were on hand. At a late hour Monday night no serious casualties had been reported.

Smith Backers Confident.
For the most, Smith supporters were confident, exceedingly so. The anti-Smithites, not so numerous, were less confident, but more noisy and more antagonistic. All claimed victory and all ridiculed the claims of their opponents.

There were, as usual, the old men to whom presidential campaigns have been so numerous that they mean little save argument. And the young men imbued with their first or second campaign were looking on eagerly and getting in a word or two when their fathers or grandfathers named to squint points of tobacco juice at or near no distant cuspidors.

There was talk of Tilden and Cleveland and Roosevelt and Wilson, and where Tom Watson and Bryan and others would have stood were they living today.

U. C. V. OFFICIAL ASKS RESIGNATION OF U. D. C. BOLDERS

Covington, Ga., November 5.—(Special.)—The following letter, written to the president of the Covington chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, explains itself:

"Mrs. J. C. Upshaw,
"President of U. D. C.,
"Covington, Ga.
"My dear Mrs. Upshaw:

"Tomorrow is election day and we want every one to vote their honest conviction. However, we hear that some of the United Daughters of the Confederacy are leaning to the republican party. I hope this is not true. However, if it is true, we ask those who favor the republican party to resign from the U. D. C. before they vote, as our organization is strictly democratic and we do not want anyone in the organization that is not a democrat, nor do we want any but democrats to look after our dead."

"Hoping that you will act on this matter at once.

"Yours very truly,
"R. L. WEAVER, Adjutant,

BRAVE GIRL FLIER SAVES HURT PILOT IN PLANE CRASH

Bradford, Pa., November 5.—(P.)—Having walked 18 miles through woods, notwithstanding fractured ribs, Miss Helen Crandall, of Alfred, N. Y., who owns and operates an airplane, was under the care of physicians today.

She made the hike to get aid for her pilot, George Eyer, of Hornell, N. Y., who was injured when her plane crashed in a forest eight miles from here.

It was near dark. Eyer was caught in the wreckage with a fractured skull.

Miss Crandall fought her way through thick underbrush which tore at her clothes and sapped her strength. She knew that finding the way back to the woods might be difficult so as she walked she tore pieces from her clothes and tied them to tree branches. Finally she found a farmhouse. Back through the rain and the forests she led five men, her way marked by the fluttering bits of cloth. Removing Eyer, they made a rude litter.

It was Sunday afternoon when they reached the farmhouse, whence an automobile took both fliers to a Bradford hospital. The plane was on the way from Oil City, Pa., to Hornell, N. Y., when it crashed.

Smithville Man To Face Murder Charge Wednesday
Leesburg, Ga., November 6.—E. A. Clark, prominent Smithville business man, today was indicted by the grand jury charged with shooting to death Marion Long on the street in Smithville August 18.

Long lived a week after the shooting. When it was seen that Long's wounds would likely prove fatal, Clark, who was already under bond, came to Leesburg and surrendered to Sheriff Turley.

She has since been held in jail in Leesburg. The trial has been set for Wednesday and intense interest is being manifested as to the outcome. Both Clark and Long are prominent and both are highly connected. A brilliant array of counsel will represent each side. The prosecution is in charge of Solicitor-General Jule Felton, assisted by Colonel Ware G. Martin, of Moultrie, and Colonel Alfred Wilkinson, of Dawson, while the defense is represented by Colonel E. L. Forrester, who is chief counsel and has associated with him Colonel Robert R. Forrester, of Tifton, and Colonel Hollis Fort, of Americus.

ATLANTA GOSPEL TABERNACLE PLANS TO ERECT BUILDING

Plans for erection of a new church edifice for the Atlanta Gospel tabernacle, now located on Capitol avenue, were disclosed with announcement Monday by the Rev. Robert D. Kilgour, of purchase of a building site on Druid circle, just off of Edgewood avenue.

Drawings and specifications for a tabernacle to seat 1,500 persons are being prepared by a local church architect, and it is expected that construction work will be started as soon as sufficient funds have been raised. Mr. Kilgour, pastor of the church, stated.

The new site is said to be centrally located and to provide an excellent location for the interdenominational church. In conjunction with announcement of the building plans, Mr. Kilgour outlined a program by which leading preachers of America and England will be brought to Atlanta.

BIG PECAN CROP IN THOMAS COUNTY SEEN BY GROWERS

Thomasville, Ga., November 5.—The pecan crop of Thomas county offers much in the way of compensation for damages sustained in the August storm by other crops.

One large grower of these nuts estimates that a million and a quarter pounds will be gathered in this county this fall and winter. Many nuts are already being brought to market, and are bringing 25¢ and up to 50¢ cents per pound, depending on the variety and the quality. Schleys appear to be favorites, and are bringing the top price. There are many seedlings marketed, and these bring lower prices than those quoted, but a conservative estimate places the average price for the entire crop, including the seedlings, at 20¢ cents per pound, or slightly higher, which would mean $250,000 or more brought into the county from the nut crop. Quality and size of all varieties, seedlings included, are superior to any crop in a number of years.

WILEY L. MOORE URGES CITY'S RETRENCHMENT

Finances in Such Condition That New Obligations Must Not Be Assumed.

Finances of the city government are in such condition that additional obligations must not be assumed if an actual deficit at the end of the year is to be avoided, Wiley L. Moore, councilman from the seventh ward and chairman of the finance committee of city council, declared at the council session Monday afternoon.

Mr. Moore's statement came as he reported adversely on a proposal to set up $2,500 for repair of the sewer and plumbing system of the Spring Street school.

"Receipts from many of the departments are falling short of the estimated revenue," Mr. Moore said. "That means the city must practice every economy in order to prevent a deficit."

"We have estimated that receipts will fall short of expenditures in the following departments and by the following amounts:

"Drains and hacks $4,000; recorders' court $4,000; street improvement $2,500; city hall $2,500; swimming pools $3,400; golf $7,000; tennis $5,500; police court fees $4,000."

"In addition the supply account at Grady hospital will be in excess of $15,000 over the estimate; the city garage needs another $8,500; street improvement projects $8,000 and the health department $3,000."

"We can ill afford to make any other appropriations and certainly not those where we must anticipate the revenue when we know that we already have over anticipated from practically every department."

CITY BOOKKEEPING CHANGE DEFEATED

would move for reconsideration of both papers after their passage by small majorities at council's last session, filed the formal motions Monday. They were seconded by Councilman Jack Hardy, also of the sixth.

When the bookkeeping paper was considered on the motion to reconsider, the opponents mustered 17 votes for reconsideration and only six cast ballots against reconsideration. When the paper itself came before council for the second time it was killed by the same vote—17 to 6.

Those attending the session and subsequently to kill the bookkeeping measure were Councilmen Locher, Wardlaw, Turner, Chosewood, Huiet, Vaughan, Bessie Kenyon, Jack Hardy, Ozburn, Reynolds, Cooper, Spratt, Johnson, Lyle and Saunders. Those voting against reconsideration and later against killing the paper were Councilmen McCutcheon, White, Moore, Wells, Cobb and Smith.

Never Reached Aldermen.

The measure was a councilmanic paper only, inasmuch as it looked towards expenditure of money, and it never reached the aldermanic board.

Alderman G. Everett Millican, author of both papers, fought vainly for preservation of the bookkeeping measure, declaring it would save thousands of dollars to the city. He was joined in his contention by Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward, and Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, both of whom held that the paper was intended to modernize the system and make it more efficient.

Alderman Gann attacked it on the ground that no specific sum was set up for introduction of the new system. He also declared that the proposed change would be expensive, "an untold and is just another new-fangled idea."

FORTY MILLIONS EXPECTED TO VOTE

gusted sections the day will not be long enough for all qualified voters to pass through the booths.

When the polls are closed the great accounting machinery will be accelerated to high speed, and the weary workers held at their tasks throughout the night until the last ballot is counted. The east, of course, will be first to give its returns to the country, the voting places in the other time belts closing in succession with the passing of the sun. California, with its polls remaining open until 8 o'clock, or 11 o'clock eastern time, will be the last to begin counting.

Gathering Election News.

Simplified in some sections because of the installation of the new system, the tabulation elsewhere will be a slow and tedious procedure. The ballots generally are long, filled with state and local candidates as well as with referendum awaiting decision. Their complexity will make for slow counting and a definite trend may be long in developing.

Predictions as to the hour at which the final result between Smith and Hoover will be known have ranged between midnight and late Wednesday afternoon, but there seems to be a universal wish that the outcome will not be clouded by doubt as it was in 1916 when the delayed returns from California were needed to decide the race between Wilson and Hughes. After hours of waiting, California's thirteen votes were given to Wilson. With them he won with a margin of 23; without them he would have fallen two short of a majority.

Weather a Factor in Vote.

It is on election day that the weather, most commonplace of topics, steps into real prominence as a consideration to be reckoned with. It is not so much of a factor in the cities as in the rural districts because of the common belief that the country resident, particularly the woman, who exercises the franchise readily enough on a fair day, would hesitate at attempting

Georgians Will Cast Votes For Eight Amendments Today

Of state-wide interest, a proposed amendment to the constitution permitting towns of 25,000 or over to enact zoning laws, will be decided at the ballot box today with seven other amendments, all but one of local scope.

Particular interest in Atlanta is being manifested in the zoning amendment, due to the fact that enactment by the city of zoning laws several years ago was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court.

The amendment would permit segregation of certain classes of residences and business houses and preventing construction of stores, filling stations and apartment houses in sections set aside for residences.

Mayor Issues Appeal.

City council Monday afternoon passed a resolution commending the amendment to the support of voters today, and Mayor L. N. Ragsdale issued the following statement:

"The zoning amendment, one of the constitutional amendments to be voted on Tuesday at the election, vitally affects Atlanta and other Georgia cities. On the eve of election, I want to call attention of the public again to the amendment and its importance."

"The zoning amendment, if passed, will permit Atlanta and other cities of 25,000 or more population within the state, to pass zoning regulations, if they so desire."

"This is a measure that democrats and republicans alike may vote for in the interest of their respective communities and the state. There is absolutely nothing political or partisan connected with the measure. It was framed to benefit the whole people and will do so if adopted."

"I sincerely hope that every person who goes to the ballot box will vote for the zoning amendment."

State-Wide Amendment.

The only state-wide amendment would give the legislature authority to fix the duties and salaries of the comptroller general, treasurer and secretary of state, and make provision for additional clerical help in these departments.

Other proposed amendments would give the city of LaGrange and the county of Ware authority to increase their bonded indebtedness, allow Macon and other cities of the same class to substitute other courts for justice courts, and authorize Columbus to issue paving bonds.

The proposed constitutional amendments, in the order in which they appear on the official ballot, are as follows:

Amendment allowing the city of LaGrange to increase its bonded indebtedness for waterworks purposes.

Amendment to articles seven, section seven, paragraph one, of the constitution, authorizing Fulton county and for Chatham county, to make temporary loans.

Amendment allowing the county of Ware to increase its bonded indebtedness for the purpose of acquiring of hospital site in Waycross, outside of Waycross, in Ware county, Georgia, and building, constructing, and equipping thereon a hospital where medical and surgical treatment and care may be provided for those in need of such.

Zoning Proposal.

Amendment to article 8, section 7, by adding paragraph 2, section 7, to the constitution to grant to the governing authorities of Atlanta, Savannah, Macon, Augusta, Columbus, Grange, Brunswick, Waycross, Albany, Athens, Rome, Darien, Dublin, Decatur, Valdosta, Newnan, Thomasville and Eastman, Georgia, cities having a population of 25,000 or more inhabitants according to the United States census of 1920 or any future census to pass zoning and planning laws.

Amendment to article 7, section 7, paragraph 1, of the constitution, so that to amend the city of Columbus to issue and sell "street improvement bonds," upon a majority vote of the members of its governing body, provided each bond shall run for a period of not exceeding 10 years, shall be limited to the amount assessed by such municipality upon each improvement, shall be issued only for the grading including curbs and gutters, or paving, or repaving of streets or sidewalks, and that interest thereon shall not exceed six per centum per annum, and furthermore, these bonds to be issued and sold without regard to the amount of other outstanding debts or bonds of such municipality.

Amendment to paragraph one of section thirteen of article six of the constitution, providing for additional compensation to be paid by Chatham county to the judges of the circuit of which it is a part.

Amendment to article 6, section 7, of the constitution, authorizing the establishment of other courts in certain counties in lieu of justice courts.

Amendment to article 5, section 2, of the constitution, striking therefrom paragraphs 2, 3 and 5 of article 5, section 2, and authorizing the general assembly to prescribe the duties, authority and salaries of the secretary of state, comptroller general, and treasurer, and to provide help and expenses necessary for the operation of the departments of each.

Wilson administration alongside that of the Harding-Coolidge one.

Compares Records.

"During Mr. Wilson's administration we enacted the following legislation, and who can question its merit:

"The federal reserve system—a panic-proof financial banking system; pure food laws; woman suffrage; the postal savings system; election of senators by the people instead of by state legislatures; the income tax bill; the Harrison narcotic laws; the Smith-Hughes bill for education; compulsory publication of expenditures in political races; the federal child labor laws preventing interstate trade in child labor, and last but not least the prohibition law which the republican party says it is fighting so hard to preserve."

"Harding and Coolidge administrations have been devoted only to graft and an earnest effort on the part of the republicans to emasculate every one of these measures. They claim they have tried to enforce the eighteenth amendment. I am told it takes an overcoat pocket to carry $2,000 worth of morphine, but that it takes spacious and high-powered cars to carry only 200 gallons of bootleg liquor. They can catch the narcotic law violator, but a big automobile is so hard to see, it is impossible to enforce the prohibition laws. This is not, they don't want to enforce the law."

Mr. Camp declared there is nothing in the Klan oath to force a member to vote against Smith because of his religion, and hinted that the republican party has conducted a drive for the past several years to control the organization.

"I am a Klansman! Every one who is a Klansman in this hall knows what I am saying is the truth," Mr. Camp said.

In 1922 Simmons, then head of the Klan, was shown of his authority and Evans was elevated. Soon after Klan headquarters were moved to Washington. M. O. Dunning, a good friend of mine, was appointed by a republican administration, to a high office at Savannah. Was that ever done in another administration? the country? Can you conceive why a Klansman was given such a post?

"The Klan is fighting side by side with the party which is even now seeking to destroy the very thing it was founded to perpetuate—white supremacy. Can you conceive of a member of that organization voting for a republican nominee, pledged to suppress and seek the passage of the damnable Dyer bill."

"If Georgia goes republican. Let us be consistent. Blast the head of Lee from its scrap on Stone mountain and carve Bill Sherman there. Repeal the Confederate pension laws. Tear down every landmark of the price the south paid in its fight for freedom. Tear from the hearts of southerners, and especially Georgians, the memory of that sacred flag, that blood-bathed, battle-scarred flag and bury it beneath the same mound under which our cherished white supremacy struggle shall have been interred."

His Prohibition Enforcement.

Colonel Knight declared the prohibition law as now enforced is "universally satisfactory, and the republican party intends to keep it so."

"If the republicans have any meaning, let them have their liquor, and the bootlegger is selling it, getting immensely rich without paying a dime of tax to the government," he declared.

"One-half of the police department in Philadelphia at this very time is engaged in arresting the other half for violation of the prohibition law. That is the grand old Vire ring, which gave Hoover the republican nomination."

Colonel Knight declared: "There is no such thing as a Hoover-Democrat. You might just as well say 'I am a Christian-Devil.' They are just as congruous."

"I appeal to the voters of Fulton county to vote the democratic ticket straight through tomorrow," Mr. Johnson said. "There never was a time when the forces of the enemy have attempted to hoodwink, to fool and to mislead the American people as it has done in this campaign. We must stand firmly. It is time for loyal democrats to go to the polls and reply to these tactics with the ballot of truth. There can be no middle ground."

Mr. Howard charged that Forbes had stolen the coats from beneath the wounded soldiers of the world war, when he misused funds of the veterans' bureau.

Election Day To Be Favored By Clear Skies

Ideal weather conditions for election day or almost anything else will prevail in Atlanta and surrounding territory today, according to the forecast of the local weather bureau. Fair and warmer is the prediction.

There is no rain in sight for the time being, bureau officials stated, and the temperature should be warmer than that experienced over the past week-end. Official figures Monday showed a minimum of 42 with a maximum of 64. Unofficial reports from just outside the city, however, showed a minimum figure of 34 early Monday morning.

God of his mother the same as you do."

Miss Kepton declared that Fulton county must remain in the ranks of the democratic party in order that the high ideals and principles for which the south fought may be preserved. She called on the voters to study the two nominees, to weigh their honesty, their affiliations, their ties and obligations and then vote for the democratic nominee to preserve the party and save the nation.

"Democracy in Georgia is on trial; if we desert the party at this time, it is our greatest crisis, we may wreck it beyond all hope of redemption," she warned. "Do not be misled by the wild promises of a faithless and soulless group of conniving, power-drunk politicians. Stick to the reliable and inherently honest democratic ranks."

Plea of Johnson.

"I appeal to the voters of Fulton county to vote the democratic ticket straight through tomorrow," Mr. Johnson said. Robinson Closes Drive in Arkansas

"It is a great mistake for ministers to attempt to dominate political affairs."

Senator Robinson's speech, which was broadcast over a radio hookup of 25 stations, followed a parade through the downtown section at the head of which the senator rode. The route of the parade was lined with thousands of people. All stores closed early to allow employees to witness the parade.

His Farm Relief Stand.

After expressing to the crowd his appreciation for the reception, Senator Robinson immediately launched an attack upon Hoover's farm relief stand and then compared the record of the presidential candidates of the two major parties. He reviewed Governor Smith's record of public service and declared "he is entitled to credit for the success of more progressive reforms than any other living statesman."

"During the eight years that Mr. Hoover has served as secretary of commerce," he said, "he has made no suggestion, championed no measure of recognized importance."

In conclusion the senator said that "for the first time in history the decision rests with the farmers themselves. They have the balance of power."

"If the republican ticket wins, the last chance of the farmer is gone. If the democrats win, we will pass a measure which meets their approval—a measure that will place them on an equal footing with those engaged in other industries."

Senator and Mrs. Robinson returned to Little Rock this morning, concluding one of the longest campaign tours made by a national political candidate. They spent the day in the city of Little Rock, Arkansas, where they were met by a large crowd of supporters.

Presidential Campaign To End With Day of Spirited Voting

Culminating perhaps the most intense presidential campaign in which this country has ever been gripped, voters today will make their final gesture in behalf of Al Smith or Herbert Hoover, democratic and republican candidates, respectively, and await with expectancy as radio, beacon, and press inform them of the outcome of the issue.

Throughout the city ballot boxes will pile high; enthusiasts will take advantage of this last opportunity to sponsor the cause of their own candidate; and the echoes of a nation's interest will reach the two candidates who hold quietly and calmly to the assurance of victory. Individuals in every section will tune in with the local broadcasting station as it announces the returns and congenial groups of friends will gather at radio parties, expressing in this delightfully informal way their interest in the situation. Clubs will afford billboards exploiting the race and that general enthusiasm which finds most complete expression on election night will be abroad.

At the Piedmont Driving club which will assemble congenial parties of Atlantans this evening the presidential returns will be broadcast in the ball room, a large amplifier being used in connection with the local station. A similar procedure will be followed at the East Lake Country club where a "returns dinner-dance" will be held, dancing to fill in the time between reports from the polls following dinner.

Mrs. R. M. Montgomery To Publish Second Volume.

The following article on Mrs. Roselle Mercer Montgomery, formerly of Augusta, is of interest here. Mrs. Montgomery is widely known here through frequent visits.

The Century magazine says of a former Georgian:

Roselle Mercer Montgomery (Galatea to Pygmalion) declares that her vocation is that of suburban matron, whose duties and activities leave an unsatisfactory margin of time for her avocation of verse-making. She refuses to commit herself as to the date of her birth—out of consideration, she says, for her classmates and contemporaries; but she admits that it took place in the black walnut period, at Crawfordville, Ga., near Augusta, where she spent most of her unmarried life. She is now living in New York. Mrs. Montgomery will have her second volume of verse published early in the new year. It will include all of her poems that have appeared in The Century and will be entitled, "Many Devices."

Best Remedy for Obstinate Cough Made at Home
You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous remedy. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle. Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a pure, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It also promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and at the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial cough and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Atlanta Hadassah Gives Annual Ball at Biltmore Hotel Nov. 13

The Atlanta chapter of Hadassah will hold its annual ball at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel Tuesday evening, November 13. For the past two months the members of the chapter have been working and perfecting plans that this ball will be the best affair that Atlanta Hadassah has yet given, both socially and financially. Mrs. S. E. Levy chairman at large; Mrs. Sol Romm, ticket chairman; Mrs. B. Wildauer, refreshment chairman, and Mrs. M. B. Copeloff has the tremendous task of the program. The amount of $3,000 is the goal set. The money raised by Hadassah chapters which number 208 groups, comprising 36,000 members, situated from coast to coast, goes for the medical aid at Palestine, the national homeland of the Jewish race and the cradle of religion. Seventeen years ago, Miss Henrietta Szold, conceived the idea of the American Jewish women banding together to help redeem their country from the devastations caused by malaria, typhus and the general ignorance of sanitary conditions. Special stress was put on pre-natal care. Hadassah now maintains two general hospitals, a nurses' training school and 21 infant welfare stations. They have visiting nurses throughout the land, provide penny lunches in schools, where children from the pioneering poor families get well balanced meals. One of the mottoes of this old new country is, "Take Care of the Young, the Old Will Get Along."

Medical aid is dispensed to all alike, regardless of creed. One of the most difficult tasks encountered has been the superstitious ignorance of the Arab in regard to disease. Typhus, the blinding evil that claimed 70 per cent of the population 10 years ago, has been reduced to 10 per cent. Each month the National Hadassah headquarters in New York remit to Palestine $150,000 to carry on this work, and most of this money is raised by the affairs that the 208 chapters sponsor throughout the United States. Atlanta's quota for the year is $8,000. Tickets for this ball may be obtained by calling Mrs. Sol Romm, Hemlock 7294.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

RUSTY DESPAIRS.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.
"Tis those alone who greatly dare
Who ne'er give way to grim despair.
—Old Mother Nature.

Rusty, the Fox Squirrel, was in a tight place. Rusty had started on a long journey. He had left the Green Forest, for there were no nuts there. He had headed south, for he intended to keep on going until he should reach a place where there was food for a hungry squirrel—food enough to last him all winter. Now, a long journey means adventure. Rusty had found this out once. Before he was across the Green Meadows the sharp eyes of Redtail the Hawk had discovered him and Rusty had been obliged to seek safety among some bushes along a fence that crossed the Green Meadows just there.

Those bushes had saved Rusty from Redtail. But now Rusty didn't know what to do next. He couldn't see Redtail, for the latter had flown away, but he felt certain that Redtail was sitting there those wonderful eyes of his could keep watch of the Green Meadows and that old fox. To reach the nearest woodland, Rusty would have to cross some open meadow. There was no way out of it. And that was going to be very risky. If he waited until night, Hooty the Owl might discover him. Rusty felt that he was in a tight place.

Rusty climbed up on a fence-post in order that he might see better. He had been there only a moment or two when he discovered a hunter coming up along the fence. He was on the ground, working back and forth through the bushes. Who do you think that hunter was? It was Reddy Fox. Rusty's heart seemed to give an extra flop when he discovered that. Now he was in a tight place and that tight place was becoming tighter. There was a little tree growing beside the fence just a title way beyond. In that tree he would be safe enough from Reddy. But supposing Reddy should discover him up in that little tree? Rusty shivered when he thought of that.

Rusty ran along the fence to the little tree. Then he sat on a fence-post close by the little tree to wait. Perhaps Reddy Fox might not discover him after all. Nearer and nearer came Reddy. He sniffed here and he sniffed there among the bushes along the old fence. Sometimes he would trot a short distance without sniffing.

"I hope he'll do that when he reaches the place where I was," thought Rusty. But Reddy didn't. Rusty saw him stop abruptly and then begin to sniff around with great interest. Once he ran out on the Green Meadows a little way with his nose to the ground. He was taking the back track of Rusty. But he soon discovered that it was a back track and once more hastened over to the fence. So it was that in a moment or two he discovered Rusty sitting on the top of that fence-post close to the little tree.

Reddy grinned and came hurrying over to the foot of that post. Rusty didn't wait for him to get there before climbing up in that little tree. "My, my, see who's here?" exclaimed Reddy, in a very pleased tone of voice. "What are you doing so far from the Green Forest?"

To this Rusty made no reply. He merely glared down at Reddy. Reddy seemed to be very pleased.

"Won't you come down and shake hands?" said Reddy, and chuckled. "My, my, how fine you look! I don't know when I have been so glad to see any one. I never have been very well acquainted with you, Rusty, but I feel in my bones that we are going to become better acquainted very shortly."

Rusty threw a hasty glance over his shoulder. There was a spot in the sky. It was Redtail the Hawk! (Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution.)

The next story: "Rusty Despairs."

LIONS GATHER TODAY

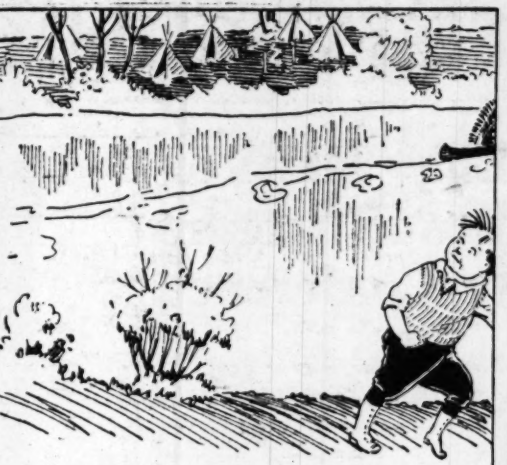

D. M. Therrell To Address Weekly Luncheon.

D. M. Therrell will address the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Lions club at 12:30 o'clock today, in the Atlanta Athletic club. Mr. Therrell will talk on "Progress in Science and Engineering."

Songs by the Georgia Power company quartet will feature the entertainment program.

"I CAME DOWN EARLY TODAY AND I SAW THE PRETTIEST SIGHT I EVER SAW ON OUR RIVER. AN INDIAN IN A CANOE. I WAS ENJOYING THE SIGHT A WHOLE LOT UNTIL I SAW HE WAS IN MY VERY OWN CANOE."

"THEN I LOOKED ACROSS THE RIVER AND I SAW A LOT OF INDIAN TENTS OVER THERE. I DIDN'T WAIT ANY LONGER BUT HURRIED TO TELL THE OTHER BOYS. I HEARD THEM SHOUTING IN THE HOLLOW."

"WHEN I GOT DOWN THERE THE FELLOWS WERE ALL GATHERED AROUND THE CANNON ROY DOBEL'S DADDY MADE FOR HIM—AND I YELLED TO THEM THE NEWS! AND THEY YELLED SOMETHING BACK."

"WE HELD A MEETING RIGHT AWAY. OUR CAPTAIN SAID: 'IF THE PELHAMS TURNED INTO INDIANS, WHAT MUST WE BE?' I SAID, 'COWBOYS CAN LICK INDIANS.'—AND ALL THE FELLOWS THOUGHT IT WAS A GOOD IDEA!"

RADIO-ING THE AIR WAVES

Today 40,000,000 or more citizens of the United States of America will elect a president to guide their destinies for the next four years. And tonight the ballots in what is expected to be the greatest election ever held in this or in any other country are being counted, the radio broadcasting stations in every part of the nation will give the returns to 418,000,000 Americans.

Starting at 6 o'clock tonight (Atlanta time), hours before the polls close in the far west and on the Pacific coast, the returns will start coming over the ether waves via WSB and associated stations of the National Broadcasting system.

In Low's Capitol and Grand theaters, The Constitution will furnish the returns. In front of The Constitution building radio returns will be broadcast, on street corners, in downtown stores and in every place where a radio receiver can be placed so that crowds can listen in, election news will fill the air.

The greatest campaign is closed. It was a radio campaign. The final speeches of the two great candidates were broadcast for the radio audience. Every speech delivered during the campaign was timed for radio broadcasting. So it is only right that radio should carry the first news of the counting of the ballots and the first flash of the winner of this greatest of political races.

All will not be election returns tonight, however. Radio artists and the foremost radio entertainers and orchestra and band organizations will give musical selections between the announcing of results from precinct, city, county, state and nation.

Not only the N. B. C. system but the Columbia Broadcasting system and hundreds of independent stations not linked into the great networks will be on the air. Fully fit for the man or woman who cares not that a nation is electing a president, but there such an one to tune in his receiving set tonight in hopes of not hearing election results.

WSB and other stations on the hour will broadcast local returns as well as the N. B. C. national results. Time will be allowed for such returns.

For those who want to get complete returns from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and neighboring states, WLW will broadcast specially gathered results from these states in addition to the N. B. C. network results. These broadcasts, coming over WLW's new 50,000-watt transmitter, should be heard by everyone in Atlanta.

Definite five-minute breaks each hour in the N. B. C. musical and election returns program will be filled by station WLW with resumes of the Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky elections so that those mainly interested in the national returns will have a quick high spot resume of the local elections.

Station WSAI will carry state election reports from 8 p. m. until the elections have been decided. An entirely local radio program, a combination of those regularly heard from WSAI on Tuesdays and WLW features supplied by the New York program, will be interspersed with election returns sent in from surrounding states.

Six telegraph operators in the Crosley offices will get the election returns direct from the offices of the newspapers in the principal cities of Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky.

Lovers of good music will be offered a variation in the program when WLW broadcasts from 7 until 8 p. m., the second of the Perfect Circle Symphony hours.

Vladimir Bakaleinikoff, assistant conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, will head the radio ensemble of the symphony in the concert. Light concert music of the type played on the Cincinnati symphony's frequent "popular" concerts will make up the program.

Probably the most extensive and painstaking collection of returns on record have been arranged for by the National Broadcasting company, working in cooperation with the Associated Press, United Press association and International News Service. Plans have been made to give these announcements over both the Blue and Red networks and to extend the relaying to the Pacific coast stations.

A number of trained experts, skilled in newspaper editing and in broadcasting technique will be present at the studio to edit the bulletins so that they will be readily understandable by all listeners. All extraneous matter will be cut from the bulletins before they are announced, and listeners will receive a clear picture of how the returns are proceeding from the frequent announcements.

During the time usually devoted to the Evening hour, the program which will feature a series of popular light concert numbers, the Luther trio and the Evening orchestra, with Nathaniel Shilkret conducting, will respectively sing and play a number of selections from the works of well-known producers.

The musical side of the program will be as follows:
"Memories of France".... Robinson & Dubin
"Sonny Boy".... DesSylva, Brown & Henderson
"Batteries Sailed".... Shilkret
"Just a Sweetheart".... Medley for two pianos from "Blackbirds of 1928"
"I Want a 'Yes' Girl".... McHugh
"Must Love You".... Rogers
"Just Another Night".... Donaldson
"Kiddie Kapers".... Shilkret
"By the Swanee".... Middleton

Eliminating all lost motion, and wasted time between the counting of the ballots and announcing the results, the Columbia Broadcasting system will offer an election returns service on a transcontinental network numbering over 50 broadcasting stations on election day night and the early morning hours of the day following. A special network of wires will bring the figures into the key station of the Columbia system, thereby lessening the time lost in transmission over general circuits. The election returns service will give in addition to the announcement of the actual figures, as they are tabulated by expert statisticians, interpretations of the results by some of the country's most experienced political authorities and writers, as well as speeches by noted politicians and candidates. The entire evening will be divided into 15 minute periods, alternating a period of election statistics and interpretations with a period of equal length filled with light and popular entertainment.

Many stars of the musical comedy, dramatic and vaudeville fields have signified their intention of being present at the key studio of the Columbia system election night and have offered to participate in the various periods devoted to the entertainment. The motion picture producers, Warner Brothers, who also sponsor the Vitaphone jubilee hours on Monday nights from the stations of the Columbia Broadcasting system are presenting the musical and entertainment portions of the broadcast, while the New York Morning World is the source from which the election statistics and interpretations will be derived.

This project is the most elaborate effort ever made to insure rapid tabulation and announcing of election re-

Southern Association Abolishes Split Season for 1929

Rookie Ruling Is Continued For Next Year

Martin Is Re-elected President of League; Salary Is Increased.

Memphis, November 5.—(AP)—The split season in the Southern association was discarded by the league directors at their annual meeting today, at which President John D. Martin was re-elected for a five-year term at an annual salary increase of $1,000, and the opening of the 1929 season set to conform with the major leagues' opening, which probably will be April 10.

The player limit and class rule in effect during the past season was continued. Under this provision, each club can have not more than eighteen players, at least five of whom must be in a lower classification than "A."

Schedule Meeting.

January 29 was fixed as the date for the schedule meeting to be held in Birmingham, and the matter of holiday games was left to the schedule committee, one to be played in each city. The schedule committee is composed of A. J. Heinemann, of New Orleans, chairman; Jack Whaley, of Nashville, and R. G. Allen, of Little Rock.

Because of a conflict in the club standings for the 1928 season between those printed in Mobile papers and those in other papers, as regards third place, the directors decided that New Orleans would retain third place, but that full third place money from the Dixie series would be awarded as well to Mobile. Each club's share will be $2,369.20, to be divided among the players. This action was taken out of fairness to the players, it was explained.

The 1928 pennant was formally awarded to Birmingham.

Action on the split season, which was adopted last year as an experiment, was postponed until late in the day. President Martin in announcing at the close of the executive session tonight that the split season had been abandoned did make public the vote on it. A three-fourths vote would have been necessary for it to have been continued. As a result of the directors' action, the 1929 season will be played on a straight 154-game basis.

Silver Bill Stickney, secretary of the Atlanta club, was praised in a resolution for his "long and honorable service" in the league.

Reflection of Mr. Martin marked the fifth time he has been elected president of the association. He has served continuously for ten years, having been elected first for two one-year terms, then for a three-year period and for a five-year period which expired today.

In re-electing him, the directors increased his salary to $10,000 a year.

SOPH ELEVEN WINS EMORY '28 GRID RACE

The Sophomore team at Emory university became football champions for the 1928 season by downing the Junior-Senior team Monday, 14-0. The same taking advantage of breaks which has characterized the team's play all the season, featured the game yesterday.

Although outgained two to one, making only three first downs to nine for its opponents, an impenetrable defense when near the goal line, kept its advantage safe. Buck Jaudon gave the victors a lead early in the first quarter, when he picked up a fumble and outspurred his opponents 50 yards to the goal line.

Jaudon's brilliant returning of kicks was instrumental in placing the team in scoring position for the second touchdown. A pass, Lange to Thrasher, and an exchange of punts gave the Sophs the ball on their opponent's 30-yard line, from where two passes carried it over, Belcher making the touchdown.

More About Stribling.

FOR no apparent reason we find it almost impossible to get our mind off a certain Georgia youth named William Lawrence Stribling, whose business is fighting and whose hobby is flying. Sitting at the well-known desk thinking of William Lawrence our reverie was interrupted by the arrival of the late mail.

Therein was the November issue of "The Ring," nationally-known cauliflower catalog printed in New York where the boys tilt their snouts at all fighters until they show something then go raving mad about them. Seemingly, their latest craze is William Lawrence Stribling from down in Dixie.

"The Ring" carries a lengthy article by Francis Albertanti, famous boxing critic, which is entitled, "A New Stribling Shoots at World Laurels." The piece is too long to reproduce here but there are a few highlights in the article which should be of general interest in this country that has never produced a world heavyweight champion.

The story starts right out by saying, "Tex Rickard picked Jack Johnson to dethrone Jim Jeffries, called the turn on Jack Dempsey that torrid afternoon in Toledo when he annihilated Jess Willard, and now the big promoter unhesitatingly predicts that Young Stribling will step into the title made vacant by the scholarly Gene Tunney."

That prediction may or may not be of value. Certainly, Rickard should know a bit about the cauliflower industry. But even if the word of Rickard is to be disregarded entirely there are a few other statements in this article that bespeak a little serious thought.

One of the questions always brought out when Stribling is discussed as a future champion is "can he take it?" Albertanti reminds us that any man who can take the pounding of Berlenbach for 15 rounds must be able to take it. He also points out that in 232 fights W. L. has never been knocked out. Name the fighter who can approach that record.

Albertanti says of Stribling's style in the ring, "The Dixie boy is one of the coolest, craftiest warriors in the game. He has the speed of a lightweight, is very strong and punches with the deadliness of a rattlesnake. A few light exchanges then out of the weaving arms comes a crashing blow, either to the head or body, instantly followed by a series that burn and light their way through the enemy's guard."

Another much-argued question is considered by Albertanti in this article. Many ask if Stribling has the weight to stand against such mountains as Uzcudun and others. Says Albertanti, "Dempsey weighed around 181 pounds when he beat Willard and the late Bob Fitzsimmons seldom passed the 165-pound mark, still they brought down the best of their day."

In short words, Mr. Albertanti speaks very convincingly of Stribling's chances in the future. He flatly states that Stribling is the best of the lot. And there you have it.

Another Victory.

D. R. S. Y. SANFORD, of the University of Georgia, has won himself another victory in affairs of state. He has convinced Old Eli that it's no sin to play football in somebody else's yard. The eastern Bulldogs have been playing their games with intersectional foes "back in their own back yard" for so many years that Dr. Sanford tackled what seemed to be an impossible job when he set out to coax the Bulldog down into Dixie.

But Dr. Sanford cut his diplomatic teeth on impossible jobs and this was just another one like all the rest. The net result is that Yale will meet Georgia next year at Athens to dedicate Sanford field. That announcement marks a great victory for Dr. Sanford and the University of Georgia.

UZCUDUN WINS VICIOUS BOUT BY DECISION

New York, November 5.—(AP)—Paulino Uzcudun, the hammering Basque from Spain, pounded out a 10-round decision over Otto Von Porat, slugging Norwegian of Chicago, in a vicious feature match at Madison Square Garden tonight. Paulino scaled 158 pounds, Von Porat 191 1/2. Von Porat twice was floored for counts of seven.

Carolina Tennis Tournament Ends

Pinehurst, N. C., November 5.—(AP)—Robert Crockett, Charlotte, N. C., and Richard O. Covington, Waynesville, N. C., won the final matches today in the men's doubles of the fifth mid-south tennis tournament on the clay courts of the Pinehurst Country club.

Defeating Herbert D. Vail, of Pinehurst, and Everett E. Clark, of Candor, N. C., 8-6, 6-1, 7-5, the Charlotte and Waynesville boys made a clean sweep in the men's finals.

The twenty-fourth annual autumn golf tournament will begin tomorrow morning. Already a sizeable entry has been listed.

Billy Banker Leads Scorers In Conference

Blond Blizzard Has Total of 83 Points for All Games and 38 in S. C.

BY EARLE WATSON.

Associated Press Sports Writer.
Billy Banker, the blond blizzard of Tulane, has swept to supreme position among individual scoring stars of southern conference football eleven.

The famous Greenville halfback has trampled the sod of opposing goal lines 13 times already this season and has augmented these six-pointers with five extra points for a grand total of 83, while Gene McEver, Tennessee's sensational sophomore, trails second with 73.

Bounding Billy, a prep star at Lake Charles, La., before going to Tulane and also a crack cinder man, has scored on every team the Wave has met, with exception of Georgia Tech. The Vol flash, former Bristol, Va. high school star, has counted against all opponents save Ole Miss.

While the two raring halfbacks have been going in high, Alabama's Crimson Tide presents the runner-up to Banker in points scored within the conference. Against the Tulane player's 83 points scored in the loop, Billy Hicks, of the Tide, has counted 36.

At glance at conference records gives who's who in the gentry who see the manufacture of field goals as a vanishing art. Harner, of Virginia Military Institute, and Hooper, of Virginia Poly, are leading in this department.

The leading 15 scorers on a basis of all games played:

Player	Touch-Extra	Total
Banker, Tulane	11 7 73	83
McEver, Tennessee	11 7 49	49

The leading scorers in games within the conference:

ALAN EUSTACE MEETS WINNER OF BOUT HERE

A point of more than passing interest to those who follow the antics of the matmen is that two behemoths who go to bat Thursday night in the city auditorium—Stanislav Zhyzsko, of Poland, and Jim Brown, of Wichita, Kan.—Monday were challenged by Alan Eustace, the Gentleman Farmer who recently proved himself quite a bit by going to a spectacular draw with Pete Sauer here.

Fans clamored for the reappearance of Eustace, but he was unable to come back for Thursday night, so John Couts, the promoting man, has his consent to permit here at the following show and Eustace has specified that he would like nothing better than the winner in the Zhyzsko-Browning tangle.

That means a sure-fire star bout for the near future. Eustace is a clever, cagey, powerful man and one of the most popular grapplers appearing in New York, according to a tribute paid him by Jack Curley, the veteran promoter and maharaja.

Accordingly it will be much to the advantage of the winner of the evening. It means another bout here which should prove profitable and possible future star matches in Atlanta, which is taking more and more interest in the game with each succeeding show.

Somewhat of a treat for the fans who like science in their grappling will be displayed by the ancient and honorable Zhyzsko when he tackles Browning. Few exponents of the art have ever lived at school with the 50-year-old Pole who was wrestling 30 years ago.

"Zhyzsko's" forte is a toe hold which he applies with the vigor and vigor as did the late Frank Guth, champion of the world, who invented that punishing grip and made it famous.

The 240-pound Pole uses it with remarkable success which means that the 220-pound Browning will be made to suffer some doubtless before he wins or loses, as the case may be.

Couts announces that he has received word from Paul Jones, the popular youngster, that he will be here about Wednesday for a meeting with Paul Harper, Texas university boy, in the one-hour semi-final.

Abe Kaplan, the 220-pound Jewish wrestler, appears at 45. Englehorn against a worthy opponent in the opener. All matches are one fall.

Hobby Baker, Princeton's idol, who was killed in the world war, furnished a series of football thrills for the late Woodrow Wilson when he then governor of New Jersey attended the memorable Princeton-Dartmouth battle on October 28, 1912.

It was Baker, who, at that time was touching the very heights of his spectacular career, who kicked a magnificent field goal from near midfield in this game. It is reported that he personally congratulated Baker after the

TAYLOR SIGNED TO FIGHT HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Eddie Hanlon, who has been doing quite a bit of uplifting in the local cauliflower industry lately and who is matchmaking for the next boxing show here, announced Monday night that he had signed or secured Ralph Taylor, the sensational LeGrange, Ga., middleweight, to oppose Ted Goodrich in the main bout of the November 13 card at the city auditorium.

This match, Eddie believes, will prove one of the best seen here in some time. Taylor, as all concerned in the ear-scrambling profession know, is a good fighter, smart, willing to fight and a hard fellow to beat. In Goodrich, however, he will meet a man just as tough and smart when it comes to punching someone on the button. They are about evenly matched and should make a real scrap of it.

The matchmaker also announced that he had matched Young Jack Dempsey, a coming heavyweight, with a scrapper by the name of Lou Kelly, another ambitious heavyweight contender, for a six-round get-together. In another six-round melee Spencer Carter and Marshall Cardwell will see what they can do to each other.

A third six-round bout will bring together two well known exponents of the business of punching one's nose, "Big Six" Luckey, former University of Georgia football star and all-southern man, will pit his skill and punches against Blondie Davis, Mobile boy. This marks the first time a Luckey has fought here, and he should draw quite a crowd himself, as he has many friends and admirers in and around Atlanta.

Hanlon is busy trying to bring together Jack Corbett and Joe Keith in another punching contest. These fellows are quite some scrappers, and Eddie believes they will go over big here.

Chickamauga Loses To Cedartown, 12-6

Chickamauga, Ga., November 5.—The Chickamauga high eleven was handed a 12 to 6 defeat by the strong Cedartown eleven in the annual game. It was one of the best games played on the home field this season.

Chickamauga was minus the services of its two star backfield men, Stanfield at quarter, and Osborne at full, and it was the loss of these two men that the home team was forced to go down in defeat.

Cedartown has one of the strongest line in this section of the state and Chickamauga is the first team that has crossed their goal line this season. Cedartown has five victories to its credit.

For the visitors Underwood at center was the best in the line and Wyatt played well in the backfield. For the home team Goodson at full, LeBron McGregor at half, and McClatchery at tackle did stellar work.

SPORTRAITS

Steve O'Neill, veteran American league catcher, will be making his bow as a manager when he takes over the reins of the Toronto Internationals next spring. And no more popular man ever led the Maple Leafs.

Steve made quite an impression when he caught for Toronto a couple of years ago and the news of his recent appointment proved a pleasant surprise to many admirers.

Steve is the second of the O'Neill family to manage a ball club. His brother, Mike, pilots the Syracuse club of the New York-Pennsylvania league.

Princeton ace sprinted 90 yards for a touchdown in the final few minutes of the contest.

Moccasins Set Dizzy Pace In S.I.A.A. Race

U. of Chattanooga Continues To Bump Rivals in March to 1928 Title.

Flashing one of the most powerful scoring machines of Dixie, the Moccasins of the University of Chattanooga are setting an amazing record for the leadership of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association, their latest victim being the Lynx of southwestern university.

Frank Thomas' team, gaining impetus apparently, each week, slaughtered the Memphis team, 70 to 0, to gain their fifth straight association victory. Furman, Centenary, Birmingham-Southern and Louisville university are the others to have withered before the Moccasin attack.

While the fireworks were in progress at Chattanooga, Birmingham-Southern's Panthers also were offering a surprise in holding the Centenary gentlemen to a scoreless tie. The Panthers rolled up nine first downs to five for the Shreveport team.

Centenary, unbeaten by any foe for two years, lost and winner over Texas A. & M., strong southwestern conference team this season, found Jenkins' speed and fundamentally sound backs a constant menace to their goal line.

The Citadel, another contender for the association crown, brought added prestige to the organization Thursday by holding the South Carolina Gamecocks, of the southern conference, to a scoreless tie.

Georgia Fears 'Gators; Works For Saturday

Close Contest in Prospect at Savannah; Mehre Turns Pessimistic.

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., November 5.—(Special.)—Georgia faces her greatest test since the beginning of the conference season Saturday, when the Bulldogs go to Savannah to meet the University of Georgia 'Gators, in opinion of Bulldog coaches. The great Florida team, which is undefeated and which scored over seventy points on both Mercer and Sewanee, is giving the Athenians material for thought and careful consideration.

Harry Mehre was pessimistic Monday in regard to the coming fracas. Injuries were worrying him more than usual, especially as neither McCarty nor Rothstein was able to attend the initial practice of the week.

"Besides these two, Harvey Hill has a bad ankle and a charley-horse. Red Smith is still in bad shape. Frisbie is still sick, and there is a host of minor injuries scattered among the balance of the squad," the Georgia mentor said. "It is not assured that Boland will be ready to play after a three weeks' rest."

Most of the Bulldogs' time was taken Monday in running signals and going down under punts. Hill, the best kicker of the lot, was unable to air the pigskin on account of his bad leg, but a promising punter was uncovered in Armin Vaughn, reserve halfback, who has been going good all season. Mehre commented that Vaughn's punting would come in handy next year, if not before, the curtain has been rung down on the current schedule.

Georgia has now completed the easier part of her schedule, and nothing but hard games remain. After the Florida game the Bulldogs return to Athens to face L. S. U., which team is as yet undefeated within the conference, and then go to Birmingham Thanksgiving for the annual Alabama melee. And, of course, there's the Tech game in Atlanta on December 8, which, someone has been so thoughtful to predict, will decide the conference championship again.

Quite a bit of comment has been raised on the campus as a result of the announcement that Yale was to come to Athens next fall, the signal honor that has been bestowed on the Red and Black having come as a pleasant surprise to many, although an inkling was given out some time ago that such might be the case.

Work on the new stadium has progressed to a marked degree. The north side of the field, embracing 18,000 seats, was completed some time ago, and the south side, which will have 12,000 more, is well under construction.

Hagen, Farrell Win.

Salt Lake City, November 5.—(AP) Johnny Farrell and Walter Hagen defeated Charles Foley, intermountain amateur champion, and Alex Stevenson, a Salt Lake country club pro, 2 and 1, in an 18-hole exhibition golf match here. Hagen scored three birdies on the first nine. The winners left last night for Spokane.

Every Day This Week To See Football Tilts

Fordham Will Play Twice, Today Against West Virginia and Saturday With Boston College.

BY WALTER TRUMBULL.

New York, November 6.—(Special.)—There are getting to be so many football games that they can't play them all on Saturdays. From now on, for example, there is a good battle scheduled for every day of the week.

Tuesday—election day—the Fordham and West Virginia backs will run as candidates for glory at the Yankee stadium. Wednesday Southwestern and Simmons play at Georgetown, Texas. Friday there are a flock of games, such as the Mercer-Oglethorpe, Salem-West Virginia Wesleyan, Milwaukee-Whitewater, Toledo-Bluffton, Bethany-Sterling, and Missouri Valley-Drury contests. Up next on Thursday, Well, Thursday, South Dakota Mines plays Madison Tech at Rapid City.

Saturday Big Day. Then comes another big Saturday—a really large one. That is, or will be, the purists say, the afternoon on which Georgetown meets Carnegie, Florida tackles Georgia, Ohio State plays Iowa, Army faces Notre Dame, Villanova goes against Temple, Wisconsin meets Chicago, Boston college is scheduled against Fordham, Nebraska meets Oklahoma, Georgia Tech lines up against Vanderbilt, Utah Creighton, and the Connecticut Aggies play New Hampshire. A lot of unbeaten teams are likely to come out of those contests wearing beakstank over one eye.

The Fordham and West Virginia affair is likely to be livelier than a polling booth in a tough district. West Virginia lost its opening game to Davis-Elkins, but after that it began to roll. Among the teams it has flattened are Haskell, conqueror of Washington, and Pittsburgh, which romped away from Syracuse. Ira Rogers has constructed a powerful machine.

Game To Be Tough. But Major Frank Cavanaugh is not one who trains his men to surrender before the battle. Cavanaugh has been bringing Fordham along in a most satisfactory manner. The boys got run over by New York University, but they had a bad day and Mecham's men had a good one. Since then Fordham has trimmed Holy Cross and Washington-Jefferson. It will make West Virginia travel to win.

The outstanding games of Saturday will, of course, be the Ohio-Iowa, Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech, Notre Dame-Army, Michigan-Navy, Harvard-Penn, Florida-Georgia, Carnegie-Georgetown, and Wisconsin-Chicago games. They all mean something.

Two Eliminations. Two teams should be eliminated for the championship of the south, leaving the two survivors to fight it out with Tennessee. If, by any freak of football, Chicago should beat Wisconsin, the Ohio-Iowa game probably will decide the championship of the middle west. A defeat of the Army would put that team in a class with the winner of the Harvard-Penn game.

Beating Michigan would add immeasurably to the Navy's peace of mind, especially as Michigan beat Illinois, Georgetown and Carnegie are unbeaten and untied. One must fall.

It looks as if most of these games might be close and it would seem that the wine-couch would be a lot of work on goal kicking between now and Saturday.

Tech, Georgia Face Battles On Saturday

Florida and Vanderbilt Hoping To Keep Conference Records Unblemished.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Speculation of the serious sort is abroad in the land. The boys who wear out coats at the elbows at the warble founts on the corner and forget to observe the rule that all shots must be made with one foot on the floor, are doing their thinking in a big way.

The week-end, you know, is bringing about two battles which have grandiose chances of being calamitous to those Georgians who take their football seriously. Georgia will fight it out in the sand of Savannah with Florida. Here, Tech has Vanderbilt.

Problem Raised. The populace becomes quite concerned for it raises a problem. All four teams are undefeated in the conference. Saturday night, barring unforeseen occurrences, such as tie games, will be defeated. The problem consists, naturally, who shall be the two. The lads mutter about "Florida and six points and it's a good bet."

This Georgetown boy ranks with the best, with Herschberger, Brooke, O'Dea, Dumas and Mahan. He is a kicker from kickersville.

MANY INJURIES IN EASTERN CAMPS.

New York, November 5.—(AP)—It was "physician's day" on most eastern college football practice fields today. Saturday's grueling struggle took a heavy toll in bruises and scratches, one of the bigger colleges scheduled more than an extremely light workout.

At Yale, however, Mal Stevens, apparently unsatisfied with the manner in which the Bulldogs vanquished Dartmouth, had his whole squad out, lectured them on Saturday's mistakes, and then put on a 30-minute scrimmage for all players who did not play against Dartmouth. Stevens said he expected to start the second string backfield against Maryland.

Georgetown, which meets Carnegie Tech at Albany, N. Y., in the major game next Saturday, so far an eastern championship honors are concerned, had only a light workout on the program today. In the New York university struggle there were no serious injuries. The Georgetown-Carnegie game is the only one on schedule which brings together undefeated teams.

The army and the navy which engage Notre Dame and Michigan in the major intercollegiate games, got off with extremely light workouts.

Princeton's Tigers were given a holiday before getting down to work for the Washington and Lee game, but Harvard, which meets Pennsylvania, went through an aerial and signal drill.

To Continue Rowing.

Madison, Wis., November 5.—(AP)—The athletic council at the University of Wisconsin has decided to continue rowing as a major sport. After the death of "Dad" Vail, veteran crew coach, there were reports that the sport might be dropped.

Plenty of Work. Still, the Georgia lads have had plenty of work in its five games, and we rather like its work. The ends are improving. If center can be strengthened a bit the situation, as the correspondents said in the old days, will be quite rosy.

McCarty may not play next Saturday. But Benny Rothstein will. Benny, in his past two performances, has advanced with such rapidity as to be among the topnotchers at this serious business of fullbacking. He gets away fast and hits the line with power, never hesitates for a fullback. And not since Bobby Hooks and Frank Dudley in the game at the same time. There are, we believe, few better backs than this pair. They have power and speed in carload lots and use it advantageously. Put them together and you have trouble.

There is, now, that rather futile proposition of comparative scores. Florida took Mercer, 73-0, Georgia won by 52-0. Georgia opened the season against Mercer and Mehre had to win that game and at the same time keep an eye on Yale, one week away. Then Florida defeated Auburn, 27-0. That was the third game of the season. Auburn rumbled along and just before playing Georgia won its first game in 18 attempts. That, with the added incentive that comes from playing a team you've met for 23 years, caused it to make a better showing against Georgia than most people gave it credit for being able to do. Auburn is a greatly improved team.

Good Battle. So after all that we have nothing to say except that the fight to be fought Saturday at Savannah will be a very good one. Florida has every man in shape and is pointed for the game, of course, Georgia realizes the necessity of winning this game. It seems to be the turning point. The lads will probably get over.

As to the Florida situation it looks as though Tech is in for an intensive afternoon Saturday. Having observed Tech only once this season and Vanderbilt rather hesitant to venture an opinion, being one of those persons who like to see something before he believes it. However, it is hard to see how Tech, with its wonderful reserve material, can be sunk. The Florida game has power of the crushing kind and it will very likely crush the Commodore with its Armistead. Not flatly, perhaps, but sufficiently.

So there you have it. We may be as wet as though a water tank had fallen on us. At any rate the fight will be interesting enough to hold the state's attention for one Saturday afternoon and it looks like a profitable afternoon for the state of Georgia.

FLORIDA WORKING FOR GEORGIA TILT. Gainesville, Fla., November 5.—(AP) With all present or accounted for except Joe Bryan, first string tackle, the fighting Gators of the University of Florida, went to work this afternoon to shape their battle plans for the major game on their 1928 schedule at Savannah Saturday.

With Cannonball Clyde Crabtree, sensational quarterback, returned in good physical trim the hopes of the Gators have mounted. Crabtree sat on the side lines celebrating a quiet twenty-second birthday Saturday as his mates romped to a 71 to 6 victory over Sewanee, but it is no secret in Gatorland that Crabtree is one of the principal hopes of a Florida victory over the Bulldogs.

Florida's array of ball carriers, Crabtree, Owens, Brumbaugh, Cawthon, Goodbread, Sauls, McEwan, Belton, James, Beyer and McClellan, all are in good condition for the acid test Saturday.

Under tutelage of Joe Bedenk, Penn State all-American in 1921 and 1923, the Florida forwards have been strengthened. Bryan is to be back in harness Tuesday.

Both Elevens Boast Power; Teams Ready

Few Injuries Are Reported as Two Squads Open Scrimmage on Own Fields.

BY HERB CLARK.

The first half, and the easiest, of their schedule completed, without a loss chalked up against them, Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets settled down to their task of being on top for four successive games with opponents of a type which will call for every bit of brain and brawn available at the Flats.

The Commodores of Vandy are the first of the service this year—imparting list, and have a record to date which equals the Techsters' own performance. They bring a squad which, though faced in September with the catastrophic loss of Billy Spears, their "one-man" team of the 1928 season, has come through on top so far, and has displayed a powerful attack as well as a stone-wall defense.

Tears Are Even. Against this aggregation Tech will shoot a team having no less power in both departments. Monday's practice on Grant field saw the Jackets going through a long dummy scrimmage, the same play, until all the maneuvers had had their workout by each team.

Tuesday will bring on the first of the seasons of Tech's best-to-goodness scrimmages which will keep the Techsters busy during the remainder of the week. Firpo Martin's Grey Devils have been working on the Vandy plays since last Monday, alternating with the Petrel type of attack. Coaches Tharpe and Fincher were attendants at the Vanderbilt-Kentucky scrap, and brought back some additional dope on the Commodore squad. This has been given to Firpo's men, who spent Monday in running over their lessons.

The Vandy system has been well drilled into the Devils, and Tuesday's session, which is to be a long one, will be a stiff one as well, since the Devils are smarting under the sting of their defeat at the hands of Red Barron's Aggies, and seem anxious to get under way at any opponent. The varsity will do as well as any, and can look for little mercy.

The entire squad is in good shape after the Petrel fray, and every man was in uniform Monday, with the exception of Frank Wadley, who paid a call at a dentist's office. Monday afternoon before the practice, and came out minus a tooth. The soreness is of a temporary nature, and the original trouble has been corrected, so that he will probably see his share of the work to be meted out in the next few days.

VANDY STARTS GRIND FOR TECH BATTLE. Nashville, Tenn., November 5.—(AP) Dan McGugin had his Commodores out early today, keying them up for their most difficult assignment of the year—Georgia Tech, their next foe.

Vandy's offense must be brushed up, McGugin has decided, and the brush will be applied throughout the week. The venerable coach was proud of his team's victory over Kentucky Saturday, although most of the fans here thought the Commodores were a little off their stride. McGugin confided Kentucky's line, the best he had encountered this year, and didn't fail to say so, and to point out that Schwartz and Armistead made substantial gains through the line. Penalties and an apparent sluggishness on the part of the Commodores, however, took much of the color off the advances.

It is no secret at Vanderbilt that the team has been preparing for the Tech game all season.

Driving power is what McGugin wants—and what he is after. Contrary to other games, Vandy did not start Saturday's battle with a bang, but in a business-like way scored two touchdowns when they were needed. There was no letdown on the drives after the half—and it tickled McGugin.

That's the tactics he will teach this week—driving power that it must change will grow with the game.

Bridge Captures Race at Pimlico

New York, November 5.—(AP)—With only two tracks in action, the $2,500 added masters of fox hounds steeplechase at Pimlico formed the one bright spot on today's racing program.

J. R. Macomber's gelding, Bridge, ridden by Mr. W. B. Street, won the event after a hard race over the three miles of heavy going. James Simpson's Klarski finished second, and J. Piper's Court Jester III, was third. Bridge carried 162 pounds and covered the course in the good time of 8:17.45.

The Ironton purse at Latonia brought an easy victory to the favorite, J. W. Parrish's Percentage. At the end of the mile race, Percentage was twelve lengths ahead of the Parkview stable's Jem. Cartago, owned by R. E. Lechleiter, was third. The winner paid $5.60 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

A streak of victories by outsiders added interest to the day's cards. At Latonia Little Scout won the third race, paying $40.90 straight in the mutuels, while Helen Dean, held at $30.38, won the fourth event.

The longest odds at Pimlico were on Esare in the fifth race when the horse's backers were rewarded at $20 straight.

Fordham Quarterback To Back Up Center. New York, November 5.—(AP)—Frank Cavanaugh, Fordham coach, decided that in the future the Fordham quarterback shall stand back to back with the center and facing the rest of the backfield. The center will pass the ball to the customary manner. The ball then will travel through the quarterback's legs into his hands. Cavanaugh explains that the scheme adds deception to the attack, keeping the ball screened from opposition. If the quarterback wants to forward pass Cavanaugh thinks he can move back from the line of scrimmage faster in this new position than he could before when he had to back up. Fordham plays West Virginia at the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

The Florida forwards have been strengthened. Bryan is to be back in harness Tuesday.

The SPORTLIGHT

No "Greatest."

After all, who is there to say there is any "greatest" in football? Who from this list could name one end to stand above all the others: Hinkey, Shevlin, Hardwick, Oosterbaan, Muller? Who could name one "all-time greatest" among backfield stars that include Heston, Thorpe, Coy, Gipp, Grange and Cagle? Heffelfinger and Hare have always been named as the two star guards—but what about Ed Glass, of Yale, 6 feet 5 inches in height, weight 245; fast and aggressive and possibly the most powerful man that ever played football?

Each star for his own day and his own season, is at least the saner way of matching them. And even that is often nothing but a guess. There are frequent disagreements among those close to the situation as to which man outshined others in a single game.

The unheralded, the block backs and the line, often make the game of another.

The "greatest team" of all time is as much of a puzzle. There have been several Yale teams rated as unbeatable. There were Yost's Michigan teams of 1901 to 1904. There was the great Pittsburgh team around 1916.

There was the Harvard array that carried Hardwick, Mahan, Brickley and others still high in football fame. The strongest feature of football is that it doesn't demand winners or the greatest to draw out the crowds. The Navy and Notre Dame proved that by playing before 122,000 after both had been toppled from any championship dream.

Notre Dame has fallen more than once this season, but try to get a ticket for the Army-Notre Dame game this week in New York. Tradition in football is still more important than the headlines, and this at least is something.

The Voter's Dilemma. I wonder if my No. 2 will take me to the green? Or had I better take a spoon and sock it on the bean?

I wonder if I order use my brassie Or take my mashie niblick out and say "Enough's enough?"

Now for the Heavyweights. It is only a short spell now before the heavyweights break out again on the trail of a phantom crown—Stripling, Dorval, Uzcudun, Von Porat, Hanten, Sharkey and—you know. The two elimination contests held the last two winters made no great headway. This may be the same, and if it is, no survivor is going to be listed as any real titleholder.

Two Unbeaten Elevens Meet This Saturday

Georgetown and Carnegie Tech Play Last of Week at Albany, N. Y.

New York, November 5.—(AP)—Albany, N. Y., will be the scene of next Saturday's only combat between undefeated teams in the east. Georgetown and Carnegie Tech will clash in a duel that may go far toward settling eastern championship honors.

Georgetown, high-scoring team of the country, gave New York university its first defeat at the Yankee stadium Saturday. Carnegie Tech took the day off.

Army's victorious sweep through all opposition may come to a sudden halt at the Yankee stadium when Notre Dame is to be met.

Boston college will get a severe test from Fordham. Frank Cavanaugh's young team will be playing its second game within five days. Fordham meets West Virginia at the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

Villanova meets Temple Saturday. Pennsylvania, triumphant over Chicago goes to Cambridge to battle the formidable Crimson of Harvard.

Two vastly improved teams, Michigan and Navy, will lock horns at Baltimore. Dartmouth, beaten by Yale, may find Brown more than a handful.

13 ARE INJURED IN ELECTION ROW IN MASSACHUSETTS

Worcester, Mass., November 5.—(AP)—Thirteen persons, including a policeman, were injured, 10,000 marches were showered with bricks, eggs and refuse and women were man-handled here tonight in disturbances which developed during an "election row" republican demonstration.

Patrolman Harry Hyde was beaten senseless and several of his teeth were knocked out when he attempted to break up a fight, and Mrs. Lloyd Byrd of this city was taken to the city hospital after a horn she was blowing had been shoved down her throat.

The police were unable to make any arrests as prisoners were torn from their grasp and the officers threatened by hundreds of men.

Most of the action took place in the "Meadows" district of the city, near East park, where the demonstration came to a close with a fireworks display. Several stores and houses were damaged and the streets were littered with stones during the fighting. Signs were torn from business houses and hurled into the lines of the marchers.

MRS. VON DOHLEN IS LAID TO REST AT VALDOSTA, GA.

Valdosta, Ga., November 5.—Funeral services for Mrs. Lena von Dohlen, aged 73 years, whose death occurred Saturday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Jenkins, on North Oak street, Mrs. von Dohlen had been in ill health for a long time and this together with her advanced age caused such a break down that her recuperation was impossible.

The deceased had resided in this city for a number of years, and while of a quiet and retiring disposition she had a number of friends who admired her for her fine qualities.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. J. Cornish, vicar of Christ's Episcopal church, of which Mrs. von Dohlen was a faithful member.

In addition to a large list of grandchildren the deceased is survived by only one living child, Mrs. W. A. Jenkins, as well as a number of other distant relatives.

BIG GRAF ZEPPELIN VOYAGES TO BERLIN

German Capital Gives Crew Enthusiastic Reception.

Berlin, November 5.—(AP)—President von Hindenburg today received the crew of the Graf Zeppelin and the three American naval officers who made the return flight with her, bringing to a climactic festive celebration in honor of a visit from Friedrichshafen to Berlin made by the dirigible over the week-end.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, the officers and crew and the American officers were driven in special cars through the profusely decorated streets to the executive mansion where, after the presentation of the crew, Dr. Eckener introduced the three Americans, each of whom the soldier-president greeted with a comradely handshake. The men were Commander Maurice R. Pierce, Lieutenant T. G. W. Settle and Lieutenant Charles E. Bauch.

In greeting the crew of the air-liner, President von Hindenburg thanked them in the name of the German people for their accomplishment under the greatest adversity and expressed the hope that they would continue in the work of "uniting nations."

Manipulating the new anchor mast at Staaken, where the Graf Zeppelin was finally moored, turned out to be a more difficult matter than had been expected. For almost an hour the impetuous crowd lost patience.

The impetuous crowds lost patience during the mooring and broke down the solid fences, scattering over the field. They were promptly charged by mounted police and driven back to the barracks.

One of the first to disembark was Mrs. Clara Adams, of Tannersville, Penn., the only woman passenger on the Graf Zeppelin's return trans-Atlantic flight. She was accompanied by friends and left in a private car.

After the disembarkation the other passengers with their crews and officers were escorted over the field by a group of government officials to a reception stand where they were officially greeted by Dr. von Guericke, minister of transportation, and other officials.

Long before the scheduled arrival of the Zeppelin from Friedrichshafen a vast multitude gathered at the Staaken airfield.

Despite a drizzling rain school children with teachers turned out in great numbers to honor the great ship.

J. IRA HARRELSON TO CAST BALLOT FOR GOV. SMITH

Replying to a questionnaire sent to councilmen and other city officials by the Fourth Ward Civic and Improvement club, regarding support of presidential party, J. Ira Harrelson, member-elect of the board of education from the fourth ward, Monday evoked his faith to the democratic party and gave a list of reasons for his choice.

Mr. Harrelson pointed out that loyalty to the forefathers of southerners who fought against racial equality demanded his support of the democratic standard. He pointed out that it was under democratic administrations that such reforms as the eight-hour day, the five-and-a-half-day week and other labor improvements were effected.

TOOMBS RELEASED IN BONDS OF $25,000 IN ST. LOUIS COURT

St. Louis, November 5.—(AP)—Roy C. Toombs, of Chicago, former president of the International Life Insurance company, surrendered here today to answer charges growing out of the removal of $3,500,000 of the company assets for which he has not accounted.

Toombs' arraignment here, sought by the circuit attorney's office since last July, followed his agreement in federal court to drop habeas corpus proceedings, instituted in his fight against extradition from Illinois.

Toombs was brought here under bond given in federal court.

His release under $10,000 bond on a charge of larceny of one specific group of bonds valued at $338,500 and $85,000 bonds of each of three charges of over-insurance of stock for borrowing purposes, was arranged by the circuit attorney and counsel for Toombs.

SOUTH CAROLINA SURE FOR SMITH, RICHARDS ASSERTS

Liberty Hill, S. C., November 5.—South Carolina is safely in the democratic column with an increased majority for the democratic candidates in tomorrow's election, it was declared here tonight by Governor John G. Richards, democratic national executive committee.

"The state has been thoroughly organized for the democratic ticket," said the governor. "South Carolina may safely be counted in the democratic column with an increased majority. I feel sure that the result of the election will prove the accuracy of this statement."

The governor returned to his home here today to vote.

Red Cross Relief In Florida 21 Per Cent Complete

West Palm Beach, Fla., November 5.—(AP)—American Red Cross relief operations in the Florida hurricane area have been 21 per cent completed, A. Schaefer, director for the American Red Cross here, announced today. This figure compares with 4.5 per cent in the Miami storm area in 1925 during a like period.

Experience gained in the Miami disaster two years ago and the Mississippi valley flood has been a big factor in speeding up the relief work in this section, Schaefer said.

Walter Davidson, associated manager of the eastern area for the Red Cross, left last night for Wiesbaden after having made an inspection tour of the storm area.

Contract Bridge Is Coming Game, Work, Declares

Senator Says South Will Be Loyal to Democratic Party.

New York, November 5.—(AP)—Senator Pat Harrison, member of the advisory committee of the democratic national committee, in charge of the campaign in the south, made the following prediction of Governor Smith's election based upon confidential reports to the advisory committee as the campaign was drawing to a close.

"The unprecedented nation-wide swing toward the democratic ticket is evident from reports based upon the most careful survey of the country. One of the influences that has made for democratic success has been the south's loyalty to the democratic party. In every southern state, thousands who conscientiously wavered in the beginning are now enthusiastically supporting the democratic cause. Letters by the thousands now tell us that these lifelong democrats will not longer permit themselves to be used as pawns by republican organizations in southern states to build up a republican party in the south. In that section the change within the last thirty days has been phenomenal."

"From our survey of the situation throughout the country, we feel assured of the following states: New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Brunswick, Maine, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Montana, New Mexico, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and every southern state."

"We have better than an even chance in the following: West Virginia, Oklahoma, Minnesota, North Dakota, Arizona, and Idaho. There is some class as doubtful, but with an even chance of carrying the following: New Hampshire, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Indiana, Illinois, South Dakota, Colorado, Wyoming and Utah. In practically every other state we are gaining."

The race is won, but there must not be a split in the republican party in now making its first drive to get a foothold in the south. Certain organizations and agencies are using such tools as the republican party to destroy democratic solidarity and success in the south. Until the polls are closed, our republican friends must use money and the same despotic methods to accomplish its purpose, as they have throughout the campaign to stir up religious intolerance and race hatred. It is our duty to our guard and in the name of the democratic party, I call upon every loyal southern democrat to continue the fight until every last inch of territory is won."

So that by an unprecedented majority, all Americans may know the south remains true to the principles of the republican party and still appreciates the fine teachings and services of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson."

Liverpool, England, November 5.—(AP)—The new British cruiser London, being used as a tool by the republican party to destroy democratic solidarity and success in the south. The ship, which was launched in the Mersey today, and was named after the late Lord, the cruiser, which was launched only last year, was damaged above the stern above the waterline.

The ship was damaged by a series of running trials. The Runic was outward bound for Australian ports from Sydney.

She was officially stated at the admiralty office today that the cruiser London was not seriously damaged in the collision with the steamship Runic. She was said to be able to continue her trials without interruption.

The cruiser, a 10,000-ton vessel, is the first of four cruisers of the 1925 program. The London is something of a mystery ship but it is known that she was fitted with all the latest improvements including a curving deck as a protection against air attack.

24 OF 31 CONVICTS WHO BROKE PRISON FARM ARE HUNTED

Freepoint, Texas, November 5.—(AP)—While men and some of the farm officials searched the wilds of the Brazos county bottoms in search of 24 of the 31 men who sawed their way through the prison walls at Freepoint, Texas, last night, state prison authorities began an investigation designed to put a stop to such wholesale breakouts.

It was reported that the prisoners had been seen near here last night, state prison authorities began an investigation designed to put a stop to such wholesale breakouts.

While their companions allayed the normal suspicions of the two guards by hanging guitars and singing, a few of the men were seen to enter a hole in a window sill and pried up an iron bar. Twenty-one prisoners squeezed themselves through the opening, thus forcing the other 21 companions kept up the music until the last man was free.

Police Still Search For Clues in Death Of Connecticut Girl

Stamford, Conn., November 5.—(AP)—Stamford police today placed a homicide charge against Paul Lambert, a newspaperman, on the circumstances already reported. The police have pushed their search for evidence which will either definitely link Lambert with the slaying of Miss Olga Bayes or eliminate him.

Today the charred remains of a whiskeybroom found in Lambert's store are being examined. The broom which is of the type generally sold to amateur owners, has several dark red stains on it and they are being chemically analyzed.

The rock with which Miss Bayes was struck on the head on the night of October 25, was given to Joseph Starnoff, New York city police department forensic expert, for examination yesterday but he was unable to get any satisfactory prints from it.

Although one of Lambert's attorneys has announced that he will start habeas corpus proceedings unless the police release his client soon, Lambert has expressed willingness to remain in custody until the authorities have satisfied themselves that he is not the man who committed the fatal assault on the Bayes girl after giving her a short ride in an automobile.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY, DECLARES HARRISON

Senator Says South Will Be Loyal to Democratic Party.

New York, November 5.—(AP)—Senator Pat Harrison, member of the advisory committee of the democratic national committee, in charge of the campaign in the south, made the following prediction of Governor Smith's election based upon confidential reports to the advisory committee as the campaign was drawing to a close.

"The unprecedented nation-wide swing toward the democratic ticket is evident from reports based upon the most careful survey of the country. One of the influences that has made for democratic success has been the south's loyalty to the democratic party. In every southern state, thousands who conscientiously wavered in the beginning are now enthusiastically supporting the democratic cause. Letters by the thousands now tell us that these lifelong democrats will not longer permit themselves to be used as pawns by republican organizations in southern states to build up a republican party in the south. In that section the change within the last thirty days has been phenomenal."

"From our survey of the situation throughout the country, we feel assured of the following states: New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Brunswick, Maine, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Montana, New Mexico, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and every southern state."

STATE SECRETARY PLEADS NOT GUILTY OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Concord, N. H., November 5.—(AP)—Robert Pillsbury, secretary of state, pleaded not guilty to a charge of embezzlement of state funds when arraigned before Judge William L. Stevens in the municipal court here today. He had been arrested at his home earlier in the day on a warrant issued last night after the disclosure of alleged discrepancies in the accounts of his department. He furnished bail of $5,000 and the case was continued until November 19.
